Marrakech magic at Syon Park or The Roaring Twenties in Weybridge?

Best Parties Ever are bringing their spectacularly themed Christmas Parties to two venues near you this December!

Syon Park, Isleworth and Mercedes-Benz World, Weybridge play host to their spectacularly themed Christmas Parties, both offering action-packed evenings full of exhilarating entertainment, including a full cast of dancers and entertainers.

Enjoy a superb four course dinner, whilst the amazing aerialists and dancers perform. Have fun with the dodgems, blackjack and roulette or simply dance the night away to the DJ and make it to the small hours and be rewarded with a Survivors Breakfast.

GET READY TO PARTY!

Best Parties Ever ran its first themed Christmas Party in 1999 and since then it has become the industry's leading Christmas party specialist, operating a varied mix of atmospheric themed Christmas parties at affordable prices.

This year, the company will be operating 22 venues across the UK. Their mixed group parties are available for groups of 10 or more, groups are always given their own tables but the full venue makes for a great atmosphere. The party is also available for exclusive hire where larger companies can book the entire evenings to themselves.

THE BEST PARTY OF THE YEAR!

Providing guests with escapism from their everyday lives, be entertained by our aerial performers tumbling from above and stand by for a spectacular finale from our full cast of aerialists, dancers and entertainers.

At Syon Park, Best Parties Ever are bringing 'Moonlit in Marrakech' to life, so watch out for the sensational fire performers including a stunning pyrotechnic finale!

At Mercedes-Benz World, Weybridge, they are presenting 'The Roaring Twenties', where the prohibition is in full swing – enter into the shadowy world of the speakeasy where the resident foot-tappin' jazz band entertains.

So join us this year for an unforgettable night – Christmas Parties don't get better than Best Parties Ever!

Film legend remembered

Tributes have been paid to legendary actor and director Richard Attenborough who has died aged 90.

Lord Attenborough was handed an honorary doctorate in arts from Kingston University in 2007.

At the time he said the award meant "a great deal to me", as he was not able to study at university due to the Second World War.

A Kingston University spokeswoman said: "He has been a tremendous inspiration to our students.

"On the day he received his award at the Rose Theatre, several of our students and their parents remarked on how friendly and down to earth Lord Attenborough had been, stopping to talk to a number of them to congratulate them and wish them well for the future."

Lord Attenborough was knighted in 1976 and made a life peer as Baron Attenborough of Richmond in 1993.

In 1988 Lord Attenborough and wife Sheila Sim agreed to give their support to the building of the new Orange Tree Theatre in Richmond.

Sam Walters, the theatre's artistic director from 1971 to June 2014, said: "We could not have done it without them and they made it fun, too.

"Unlike many an Englishman, Richard wore his heart on his sleeve and his care, concern and enthusiasm were there for all to see. And I loved him for it."

Lord Attenborough is survived by his wife Sheila, his son Michael and daughter Charlotte.

CYCLIST DIES

A cyclist who fell from his bike in Richmond Park on Sunday morning has died in hospital.

The 40-year-old man was taken by London's Air Ambulance to the Royal London Hospital in a critical condition, but died later that day.

Police were called to the accident in Broomfield Hill, Richmond Park, at about 9.30am on Sunday, August 24. It is believed the cyclist, who is understood to have been wearing a helmet, lost control while coming down the hill and skidded on gravel.

Broomfield Hill is a popular road climb for cyclists and is classed by riders as the most dangerous and difficult hill in the royal park. The hill is part of a 1km route which has gradients from 4 per cent to 12 per cent and has fast descents.

No one else was involved in the accident and officers from the Metropolitan Police Service Royal Parks Command Unit were investigating. The man's next of kin have been informed.

Witness Oliver Prior tweeted: "My cycle this morning taught me two things: life is short and always wear a helmet on a bike, it can save your life."

A Royal Parks spokeswoman said: "This is still a police matter so we have nothing further to add."

No sign of 'volatile' grades as pupils continue top pass rates

REPORTER
JON SHARMAN

Year 11 pupils nervously awaited their GCSE results last week – but it seems many in Kingston had little to worry about in the end.

Leading up to results day, Ofqual had predicted increased "volatility" in grades due to Government syllabus shake-ups.

But results from Coombe Girls' School show more than a third of all grades were an A or an A*.

The star pupil was Caitlin Dimbleby, who scored 10 A* grades and one A.

Twins Nadia and Yasmine Barakat notched up 17 A* grades and three As between them.

Headteacher Deborah Walls said: "I am extremely pleased that the volatility reported in the press has not been evident in our results.

"It's truly inspiring to see our students achieve these impressive results that reward their hard work and determination."

Half of Kingston Grammar School's grades were A* this year.

Acting headteacher Mark Wallace said: "We are very proud of our pupils who have achieved quite outstanding results."

Tolworth Girls' School's results showed a steady improvement. Its proportion of A* grades has risen from 6 to 7.2 per cent, with A and B grades also rising.

High-flyers included Rebecca Corbett, who achieved a staggering 11 A* grades and an A.

Southborough High School achieved 63 per cent A* to C grades, which headteacher Niall Smith said were the school's best ever.

He said: "They are a well-earned reward for the hard work, ambition and commitment of our students.

"I would also like to thank staff and parents for their steadfast support."

Six pupils from Tiffin Boys' School achieved a full set of A* grades this year.

The school's results showed a slight dip in the top grades.

This year, 76.7 per cent of all grades were an A or A*, compared to 82.6 per cent last year.

Headteacher Hilda Clarke said: "Everybody was warned – we knew that the grades this year were going to be setting a new set of benchmarking standards.

"We've seen a bit of movement, but perhaps not as much as we were being warned about. We're very pleased."

Tiffin Girls' School also reported a drop in A* grades, but a rise of more than 7 percentage points in A grades.

Last year 23.1 per cent of all grades were an A, compared to 30.5 per cent this year.

Headteacher Vanessa Ward said: "They have done superbly well.

"This is a tribute to the hard work and dedication of our students, their teachers and parents."

Joyful jump: Cezary Nowak, Patrick Evans, Sean Simmons, Josh Owen, Rayan Hafeel, Joe Godbold and Kieran Cotton celebrate at Richard Challoner School

Chessington Community College followed its excellent A-level results with a record-breaking set of GCSE results.

Principal Rob Niedermaier-Reed said 63 per cent of pupils had achieved five A* to C grades – up from just 25 per cent in 2007.

He said: "Our results are game-changing for our school.

"I'm able to say to the world: 'This school is transformed'."

Surbiton High School saw a 1.6-percentage point increase in top A and A* grades this year.

Principal Ann Haydon said: "At a time of change in the exam system, I am thrilled that our results have continued to increase."

Richard Challoner also reported a jump in A-grades, from 16.8 per cent last year to 21 per cent this year.

Head of school Ian O'Brien said: "Once more, students at Richard Challoner School have produced an outstanding set of GCSE results.

"Needless to say, these results wouldn't be possible without the outstanding hard work and commitment of students and staff alike."

Canbury School reported 71 per cent of grades were between A* and C this year.

Headteacher Louise Clancy said: "We are so very pleased with all the students' results.

"They and their staff have worked really hard, and deserve to be proud of their success."

A recycling waste

Bins: Residents should be encouraged to recycle more waste, a councillor has said Deadlinepix KT81262

REPORTER
JON SHARMAN
jon.sharman@
london.newsquest.co.uk

Half of what residents put in their black household waste bins should be recycled instead, a lead councillor has said.

Councillor David Cunningham, cabinet member for environment, said food waste and plastics were being carted off to landfill instead of being recycled.

He said: "There's a major education exercise there. Half of what goes into our landfill bins doesn't need to. People are putting in their wood, their food waste, their paper waste, and their plastic and bottles.

"If we get people to recycle more of the materials that they're actually putting into their landfill, it would make an even bigger impact."

Kingston Council officers reported in June that 35 per cent, or about 9,000 tonnes, of the borough's "residual" waste was food that could have been composted.

Only 15 per cent of textiles that could have been recycled last year was correctly disposed of, a report said.

Kingston's recycling waste is collected weekly, and black bins are emptied every other week.

Coun Cunningham said Kingston Council was considering weekly collections as part of a renegotiated deal with contractors Veolia.

Deputy Liberal Democrat leader Coun Stephen Brister said: "It doesn't surprise me at all that there can be quite high levels of recyclable waste not being recycled.

"This is related to the cost of service – this is more expensive if we're pushing more waste into landfill."

He said weekly bin collections would be "a gimmick and a headline".

He said: "You're raising the cost of provision of waste disposal, and you're slightly undermining trying to improve your recycling rate."

The news comes as the Conservative Party is rumoured to be considering a place in its 2015 election manifesto for a pledge of weekly collections.

‘Mindless’ thugs behind bars for attack on woman and girls

REPORTER
JON SHARMAN
jon.sharman@london.newsquest.co.uk

A pair of “mindless” thugs have been jailed for attacking a woman and two teenage girls at New Malden station.

Prasanth Shanmugarajah, 23, of Clarence Avenue, New Malden, and Mateusz Liberna, 19, of Portland Avenue, New Malden, were sentenced to a total of seven years for the attack, which left one victim unconscious.

Their victims got off a train at New Malden on March 29 last year and walked through the underpass to the opposite platform, where they passed a group of five men including Shanmugarajah and Liberna.

Police said a verbal exchange took place between the woman and one of the men, and both Shanmugarajah and Liberna began kicking her. The two girls tried to help, but were also attacked.

All three were left with bruising and black eyes.

The victims managed to escape and found help from staff at a nearby bar, police said.

Detective Constable Keef Cook, from the British Transport Police, said: “In addition to their physical injuries, this attack left the young women extremely shaken and upset.

“I would like to thank them for their co-operation and patience, which was instrumental in bringing these men to justice.

“This sentence sends a clear message that this type of mindless violence is absolutely unacceptable.”

Shanmugarajah, also known as Presh Phelz, denied charges of common assault, affray and causing actual bodily harm, but was convicted after a trial at Kingston Crown Court.

He was handed a 34-month prison sentence on Friday.

Liberna was spotted on CCTV by police community support officers.

After the pair’s arrest last July, he initially denied causing actual bodily harm, but changed his plea before trial.

He was sentenced to four years and two months in prison for that and an unrelated offence of affray.

He had been charged separately with affray by the Metropolitan Police.

ASSAULT ADMISSION: A Surbiton YMCA resident has admitted assaulting a woman and stealing from Waitrose. Camille Hedges, 36, appeared at Wimbledon Magistrates’ Court on Wednesday. She assaulted a woman in Victoria Road, and stole £80-worth of goods from Waitrose, in Claremont Road, on Monday, August 4. She will appear again on Wednesday, September 10, for sentencing.

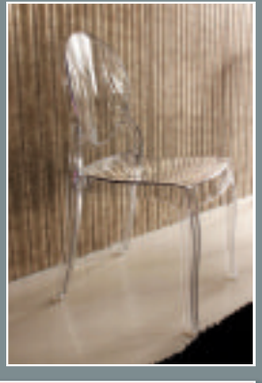

CARDIAC ARREST: A pensioner was in a critical condition in hospital after suffering a cardiac arrest in Kingston. Paramedics were called to Eden Street shortly before 10am on Wednesday. A passing police officer administered CPR before ambulance crews arrived. The 75-year-old man, from Teddington, was taken to St George’s Hospital in Tooting.

TEEN IN CRASH: A 16-year-old girl was hospitalised after a road crash in Norbiton. The girl suffered shoulder and ankle injuries in the crash, which happened in Cambridge Road, just before 2.20pm on August 14. The girl was taken to St George’s Hospital in Tooting.

CRIME CHAT: Boris Johnson’s crime and policing czar will visit Kingston to hear residents’ thoughts on cost-cutting and crime reduction. Deputy mayor Stephen Greenhalgh will chair a meeting at the Guildhall at 6pm on Monday, September 8.

RAISING FUNDS: Half a million pounds has been raised for children’s charities by the staff of an electrical company in Chessington. The team from CDR Electrical Wholesalers in Roebuck Road cycled 320 miles from London to Paris in aid of Action Medical Research.

Book reveals secrets of the town

As you wander through Kingston, are you distracted by the bright shops, heaving crowds and relentless traffic?

Everyone knows there is more to the place than meets the eye, and a new book, a year-and-a-half in the works, aims to reveal the hidden nuggets of the borough's history.

Find out about the battle of the undertakers, and how many criminals could be hanged at one time – and where.

Julian McCarthy, author of Secret Kingston upon Thames, has already dipped his toe in the water of local history with the New Malden booklet Monday Was Always Washday.

He said: "I had been a tour guide for a few years. However, we have got limited time during a tour to explain to people what they're actually seeing.

"We found there was much more to Kingston – there's a surfeit of history."

Secret Kingston Upon Thames by Julian McCarthy is available online at amberleybooks.com, bookdepository.com and amazon.co.uk.

It can also be bought from Kingston Museum and Kingston branches of Waterstone's and WH Smith.

End of the road for park and ride bus

REPORTER
JON SHARMAN
jon.sharman@london.newsquest.co.uk

Cut: The service has been losing customers Deadlinepix KT2062

The park and ride service that for years has ferried Chessington and Surrey shoppers to Kingston for Christmas will be scrapped, Kingston Conservatives have announced.

Use has plumetted over the past few years, Tory figures show, from more than 53,000 passengers in 2006-07 to fewer than 20,000 last Christmas.

Councillor David Cunningham, cabinet member for transport, said falling use and rising costs meant the scheme was no longer viable.

He said: "It's not as popular now as it was. We looked at whether we could reduce it to the premium times, but surprisingly there's no saving in doing that."

Town centre managers KingstonFirst had slashed its contribution to the scheme, he said, and were "not that keen" on increasing it after talks with Kingston Council.

A KingstonFirst spokesman said while it continued to promote the scheme, it could not maintain its funding in the face of reduced usage.

Liberal Democrat Chessington South Councillor Rachel Reid said: "I just think overall it's disappointing. I've no doubt it will be strongly challenged.

"We know it's been declining. I think a lot of people will miss it.

"If that does happen I'm very keen to know what the other possibilities will be."

Coun Reid said she had stopped using the service when it was moved out of Chessington World of Adventures' main car park.

Coun Cunningham denied the move would clog Kingston's streets and central car parks with extra traffic at Christmas.

He added: "There is always space in one of the other car parks.

"We're going to do quite a big publicity campaign so [shoppers] know they can go to the others."

Coun Cunningham said he will attempt to improve public transport links from Surrey into Kingston, which he said were "diabolical".

Last year Kingston Council paid £92,462 of the total £226,696 cost of the scheme. That contribution was set to rise to £110,430.

Councillors will vote on whether to scrap the scheme at an infrastructure committee meeting on Thursday, September 11, at 7.30pm in the Guildhall.

Attack on woman and girls

They should be called "mindless" cowards... They should try to pick on people their same size. Such a shame with short sentences. They will be out in a year... And will be back with their brainless ways...

IMIGRANTE

What gentlemen... parents must be so ashamed.

Enough is enough time to stop this disruption. RBK should ask residents if they want it. Suggest that residents lobby their local councillors and attend council meetings to object. Those in favour should give their home address.

Xmas park and ride scrapped

When the park and ride first started, you were able to park your car in Chessington World of Adventures car park; last couple of years this has not been the case, parking in a field, no lights, no thought to the customers. Could this be the reason?

Rabbi is wrong in using 'whataboutery' in his argument

Israeli policy protest is not anti-Semitism

As the chairman of an organisation campaigning locally for justice in the Middle East, I am happy to endorse the condemnation of the incident that took place recently at Kingston Synagogue.

The motivation for the action may well have been anti-Semitic in so far as it sought to suggest that all Jewish people, by dint of being Jewish, are culpable for Israel's actions in Gaza.

The motivation may, however, have been political – a response possibly to the numerous statements posted by the synagogue over the past few weeks endorsing and encouraging Israel's actions.

However, even if the latter were the case, I would condemn this as a clumsy, insensitive and ill-conceived form of political protest.

I agree wholeheartedly with Rabbi Landau in his statement that distinctions need to be made between Israeli Government policy and British Jews.

However, the Rabbi, in his letter (Free to air political beliefs but drop the anti-Semitism, August 21), dilutes this distinction by suggesting that those who protest against Israel are guilty of anti-Semitism by choosing to protest against Israel and not other nations, such as Sudan or Syria.

There are a number of things wrong with this assertion. The first is that it represents an example of what the commentator Owen Jones has recently referred to as "whataboutery" – that is the attempt to deflect from one injustice by referring to the suffering of others. In the second place, it ignores the fact that many of those who campaign for the rights of Palestinians are also involved in campaigns on other human rights issues.

But, most importantly, it misses the crucial point that what brings so many people on to the streets to protest about Israel's actions is not just the fact of Israel's occupation and denial of the right of Palestinians to live free lives, but of the complicit support, of western Governments, including our own, for these actions.

While our Government has acted with alacrity to support sanctions against Syria, Iran and Russia, it continues to resist any call for sanctions against Israel, but rather offers Israel support, both diplomatic and financial, including the continuing sale of arms.

The Palestine Solidarity Campaign's (PSC) fight for justice and peace in the Middle East is rooted in a commitment to anti-racism and a belief in the rights of all to self determination and fair treatment.

Our protests against Israel are entirely consistent with a commitment to these principles, which we believe must also be respected in the method of our campaigning.

BEN JAMAL
Richmond and Kingston PSC

Gaza attacks

Rabbi Samuel Landau wrote that there was an anti-Semitic attack against his synagogue (Free to air political beliefs but drop the anti-Semitism, August 21).

He is mistaken. Protests about the attack on Gaza are political and directed against the Israeli state. No religion or house of worship worth the name would ever condone or be responsible for the ghastly and vicious attacks on Palestinian civilians.

If anyone doubts the cynicism of the Israeli military, they should ask why power stations and water treatment plants have been singled out for destruction – no question of defence from rockets there and the hundreds of children killed posed no threat.

Individual Jews may choose to support Israel (right or wrong), but synagogues, unless they consider themselves outposts of the Israeli state, should not be a focus for protest.

I continuously protest about the detention of a charity worker who was ruthlessly snatched to Guantanamo and I have vainly tried to enlist support from members of the Jewish community, which has experience of such injustices.

A particular reason for loud protest in the UK over Gaza is the seeming unwavering support by our Government whatever Israel does. It is not in our name.

Searching for the relatives of wartime airman

Since the early 1970s, our research group Stichting Missing Airmen Memorial Foundation (SMAMF) has been investigating the air war over the northern part of the Netherlands.

It is our objective to gather as much information as possible about the aircraft and the airmen that came down over the province of Friesland during World War II. We consider it very important to keep the memory of the air war alive, especially since many flyers paid with their lives for our freedom.

On January 10, 1943, Halifax BB252, of No.10 Squadron Royal Air Force, took off for a mine-laying operation near the island of Schiermonnikoog. Over the North Sea, the bomber was intercepted by a German night fighter.

The aircraft was shot down and crashed on the island. Six crew members were killed. They found their last resting place in the local cemetery.

MJ Boyle was seriously injured and was flown to the hospital of Leeuwarden. He died on January 15, despite the good care of the German doctors, and was buried at Northern General cemetery.

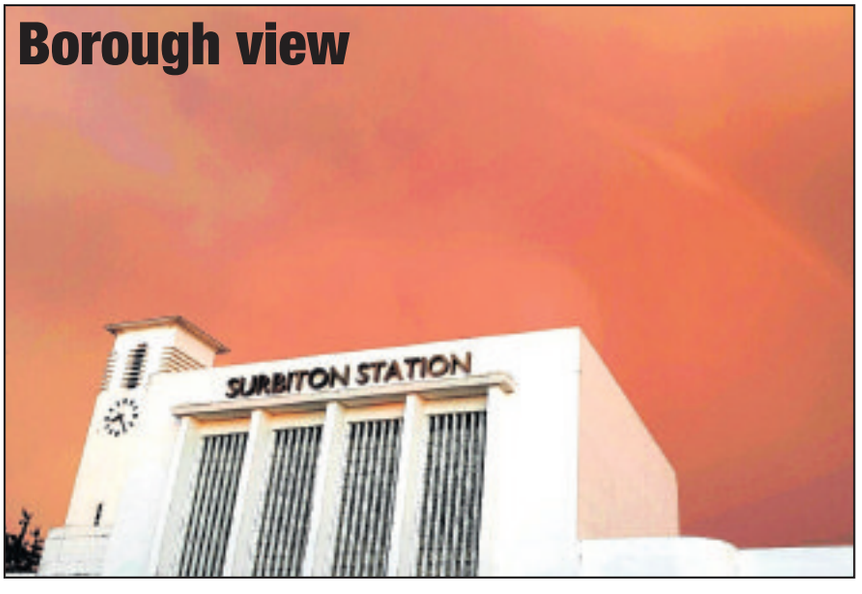

The foundation is considering placing a panel at the cemetery. The names of all the buried airmen, together with a short biography and a photo, will be featured.

We found almost every family. Regrettably, we failed to trace relatives of Mr Boyle. His parents were Michael Joseph and Louise Julia Boyle. The last known address of the couple was in New Malden.

The foundation has put forward this request for information. A reaction might give us new clues to find out the whereabouts of living relatives.

Borough view

Gary Winters took this photo of Surbiton station in spectacular stormy light. To see your photo featured in Borough View, email it with details of where you took it to jon.sharman@london.newsquest.co.uk.

Need better road marks

It was good to see some white lines being upgraded in the Berrylands area.

Notwithstanding the obvious benefits to road safety here, may I ask the highways department to concentrate on major roads in the borough as their priority.

For example, the decidedly faded mid-road white line in St Mark's Hill is invisible at night and therefore impacts drivers' ability to gauge safe passage.

It seems to me that, with the growth of on-street parking across Kingston, particularly on the major routes, improved mid-road markings are essential to promote road safety.

TWEETS of the WEEK

@Marleysoldman was unhappy: Chessington world of chaotic nightmares

@monkeyskitchen was also unhappy: Err fuming about my day at Chessington. Only managed 4 rides all day! Qing soooo much, first time back in 10 yrs.

@lolwarlol enjoyed his evening: At a music night in Surbiton, performers are forced into a corner right next to the gents toilets. The glamour.

@CateSevilla ate too much cheese: Dreamt I was having dinner with Peter Capaldi & gave him a patronising pep talk for being the new Doctor. 'How exciting for you!' I said.

@vanjamesonUK was full: First time in New Malden. Found a great Korean restaurant. Yum!

LMSWorldwide Ltd Presents Barry Steele in the award winning concert

Roy Orbison and Friends

If you love good music, then this is the show for you as Barry Steele presents his all live spectacular Multi Media Tribute to The Big O, featuring classic Orbison hits from the 60's right through to the late 80's using both original and film footage from the era, and backed by his fabulous band, Barry Steele will bring the life and character of Roy Orbison back to the centre stage, where it truly belongs, as he puts the rock back into The Big O, with his trademark dark rimmed glasses, soaring vocals and Orbison style.

Add to the mix our special star guests tributes to Buddy Holly, Elvis Presley and Jerry Lee Lewis you have yourself a spectacular fusion of good old "Rock n Roll" and contemporary musical genius all on one stage.

Book yourself a ticket to ride to this incredible musical journey, "It's not The Big O but you simply won't believe it!"

Top reasons for choosing Kingston College

Sue Condor marketing manager at Kingston College explains why it is the best place to study

Your next step is one of the most exciting times of your life, whether you are leaving school, looking to improve your career prospects or changing direction.

We believe Kingston College is the place to be and whatever your ambitions or aspirations we will help you get there.

Here are some reasons we think you should take a place with us:

One of the best in London

We are a successful college of further and higher education and a major provider of full time, part time and undergraduate courses in south west London. We provide an excellent learning experience to all of our students, plus we have some of the highest success rates of any college around.

Wide choice of courses

We offer an extensive range of innovative and engaging academic and vocational courses to suit all students in a variety of subject areas from beauty therapy to aeronautical engineering and counselling to music technology.

College life

As a friendly and welcoming college we want your time with us to be the best it can be. Our students feel they are part of a community while they are with us and often comment on the friendly and vibrant atmosphere at college.

Cutting edge facilities

We have made considerable investment in facilities to enhance our learner's experience. Including:

- Aviation centre
- Four industry standard recording and rehearsal studios
- Fully equipped industry specific training centres
- Motor vehicle
- Engineering
- Mechanical
- Electrical
- Aeronautical
- Dedicated centre for our undergraduate students
- ACT college theatre boasting a 300 seat auditorium
- Brand new Creative Industries Centre opening in January 2015, offering state of the art facilities using the latest technology.
- Arena Sports Facility comprising a modern fitness suite, exercise studio and sports hall.

Outstanding teaching

We are committed to excellent teaching and learning and are fortunate to have some amazing teachers and tutors. Many from a wide range of industry backgrounds and each an expert in their chosen field.

Exceptional student support

We have a dedicated and experienced student support team who are here to help and support you while at college. Our aim is to give you the best possible advice and guidance to help you reach your full potential.

Helping students achieve

Ewell Castle is a small Independent day school which was built as a castellated mansion in 1814.

Set in beautiful grounds in the heart of picturesque Ewell Village, its gardens and playing fields cover some 15 acres and were once part of Nonsuch Park.

A spokesman for the school said: "Our mission is to ensure that each and every student reaches their full potential; an ambition that is realised through small class sizes, excellent facilities and a close working relationship between highly qualified staff, parents and students."

From September 2015, Ewell Castle will become fully co-educational for ages three to 18. In addition to joining in the nursery, junior school and sixth form, girls will be able to join in years 7 and 9.

The school's family-friendly environment helps to produce confident young people prepared for the challenges of the 21st century.

ACES IN A NEW DEKK

When Desmond Dekker died suddenly on May 25, 2006, his long-time friend and business partner, Delroy Williams, was deeply affected by the loss of his singing companion, writes Lucy Ford.

Williams first met the reggae superstar in the 1960s, when they started collaborating musically and performing at venues around the world.

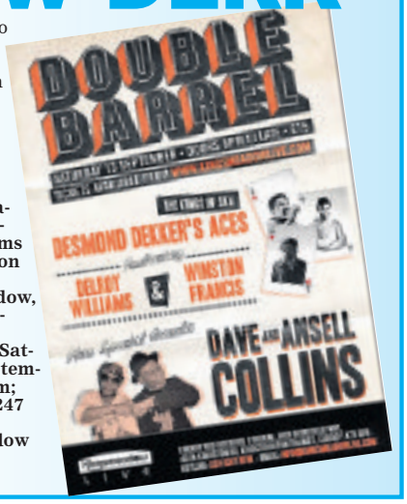

With Dekker's death, it all came to an end. Williams refused to continue with the band or replace his beloved collaborator, who he considered a "brother".

Until now.

Eight years on from the Israelites singer's passing, Williams is embarking on a new tour with the elaborately-named Aces, formerly of Desmond Dekker, featuring Delroy Williams and Winston Francis. The aforementioned Winston Francis is himself a hugely respected performer in his native Jamaica, with a five decade-long recording career to his name.

It was Francis, a mutual friend of Dekker's and Williams', who first proposed performing the late legend's back catalogue once again. The Aces come to Kingsmeadow on Saturday, September 13.

In what is promising to be a reggae night to remember, the Aces will be supported by very special guests Dave and Ansell Collins, who topped the UK charts in 1971 with Double Barrell.

● The Aces, formerly of Desmond Dekker featuring Delroy Williams and Winston Francis; Kingsmeadow, Jack Goodchild Way, Kingston; Saturday, September 13, 8pm; £15; 020 8247 9918, visit kingsmeadowlive.com.

Vibe SHORTS

PICTURE PERFECT: Hear what it is like to be an outdoors photographer in one of the most remote parts of the country. Hebridean Ruari Cumming will give the first talk of Kingston Camera Club's new season.

● Ruari Cumming; St John Ambulance Hall, Athelstan Road, Kingston; September 8, 8pm; kingstoncameraclub.co.uk.

HOME FRONT: The Rose Theatre's exhibition marking the centenary of World War I opens next week. The audio-visual show centres on Forsyte Saga author and Kingston resident John Galsworthy, who campaigned on behalf of disabled servicemen. It will include stories of Kingston residents, as told by their possessions and living relatives.

● Galsworthy: Human Battles on the Home Front; Rose Theatre, High Street, Kingston; September 1 to October 25, guided from noon to 4pm; free; schools can book a free tour by emailing kate@digitaldrama.org.

PARK ARTS: Performers from across the borough will flood the Fairfield for a mini-festival. The Green Theatre Company will host music, theatre and comedy, in memory of theatre company member William Etheridge.

● Arts in the Park; Fairfield, Kingston; August 30, noon-9pm; £5 adults, £2 children, under-5s free; visit greentheatre.com for more information.

ROYAL madness

An operatic double bill exploring madness and mayhem will take place at the Rose Theatre in Kingston.

On Wednesday, September 10, Helios Chamber Opera Company will be collaborating with the Melos Sinfonia dynamic orchestra.

Facade by William Walton is paired with Eight Songs for a Mad King by Sir Peter Maxwell Davies – who will also be at the Rose to give a pre-concert talk.

Directed by Ella Marchment, who has worked on more than 40 productions for companies including the Royal Opera House, the show explores 20th century musical innovation and what it is to be truly mad.

Eight Songs for a Mad King explores the internal torture of an officer so traumatised by his experience in the war that he has assumed a separate identity, George III.

Facade, set in the fictional Esapbury hospital for shell-shocked World War I soldiers, offers a bizarre yet humorous outlook in which the protagonists imaginatively disguise their wartime turmoil.

● Facade and Eight songs for a Mad King; Rose Theatre, High Street, Kingston; Wednesday, September 10, 7.30pm; £9-£19; rosetheatrekingston.org.

SCOT ROCK

Scottish rockers Twin Atlantic will be heading to Kingston for an "ultra-special" acoustic performance next week, writes Lucy Ford.

The quartet, who formed in Glasgow in 2007, will make an appearance at Banquet Records on September 6.

But Banquet manager Jon Tolley has promised the gig will not be your average in-store show – although he's remaining tight-lipped as to what's in store.

Tolley says: "We are pleased to welcome back Scottish rockers Twin Atlantic to Kingston. They've grown into one of the UK's great rock bands and we can't wait for the new album.

"This will be an ultra-special acoustic performance, for reasons revealed nearer the time."

CDs and DVDs will be on offer as part of the ticket price.

The band's appearance comes shortly after the release of Great Divide, their third studio album and their highest charting record to date, peaking at number six in the UK album charts.

The band also scored a top 20 single when Heart & Soul, the lead single from the new album reached number 17.

A full UK tour, supporting the new album, will follow this autumn – but grab your chance now to catch the group in a more intimate environment.

It will be the second time Twin Atlantic frontman Sam McTrusty has appeared in Kingston, following an acoustic gig in May 2011.

TWIN ATLANTIC

● Banquet Records, Eden Street, Kingston; September 6, 6pm; all ages; £11- £18.99; banquetrecords.com.

AIM OF THE GAME

Do you need to organise a stag do, an office bonding session, or just let off some steam with friends?

There are myriad options out there, but few offer the mix of adrenaline, terror and elation of paintballing, writes Jon Sharman.

David Ross, managing director of Ministry of Paintball, is a 20-year veteran of the game.

He says: "The appeal of paintballing is, firstly, you drive out into the woods and you go somewhere different.

"You're with your mates, which is great – it's a shared experience.

"When you're trying to hunt them down and shoot them, and avoid them shooting you, you get into an adrenaline zone and don't think of anything else. It's a switch-off.

"Between games it's fun because you're recounting your stories from what you've just done and winding each other up about what you're about to do."

But isn't it very painful to get hit? Many would-be players are put off by the idea of stinging welts and being caught in an uncomfortable spot by a stray ball.

Ross says: "Imagine you've flicked the back of your own ear with your finger."

There are other benefits, beyond vendetta resolution or team bonding.

For one, the woods make for a very effective workout environment.

Ross says: "It's really good fitness. You're using a lot of kinetic movement.

"A lot of gyms will actually take people down to paintball days to test their fitness levels.

"It's very different to running on a treadmill.

"There's no pre-meditated movement – you're responding to situations. You're generally pretty knackered, but then you get to go to the pub afterwards."

WHERE TO GO: Kingstonians hankering for a bit of paint-based warfare need only make the short trip to Cobham for their fix. Campaign Paintball has 10 film-set designed game zones for all types of parties, stag dos and office days out. Campaign Paintball, Old Lane, Cobham KT11 1NH; 01932 865 999, campaign-paintball.com.

The clutter that's a deal breaker

Household junk is a big turn-off for buyers

Three quarters of UK homeowners could be making it more difficult to sell their properties because of clutter, a study by MusicMagpie.co.uk has found.

Researchers that carried out a poll of 2,000 homeowners found the typical cluttered property is crammed full of 186 items amounting to a staggering £7.3 billion worth of unwanted items gathering dust in sheds, garages, lofts and cupboards.

Just under half of those surveyed said that their cutter has resulted in there not being enough space around their home for things that they actually need, with some holding onto items for up to 18 years.

While many use shelves, closets, suitcases and drawers to hide unsightly items, nearly a third use their spare room to hide belongings while one in six people stack clutter in the corners of rooms.

Among the most common items are discarded mobile phones, old remote controls and VHS tapes.

Keys to unknown locks, old birthday cards and outdated games consoles are also likely to be lying around.

One in four Brits admitted to being overwhelmed by the amount of clutter in their homes and said that clearing it felt like a 'never-ending task'.

Liam Howley, online marketing manager at MusicMagpie.co.uk which commissioned the study, said: "We all know the old adage of a clear space equals a clear mind, yet despite increasingly small living spaces many of us have homes filled with old items.

"Reducing the amount we have clogging up our living areas can be a great stress buster. What's more, not only is it surprisingly easy to de-clutter, it could also earn you a bit of extra cash too."

Emotional attachment is a large cause of clutter, the poll revealed – as half of all adults can't bear to chuck out old birthday cards, baby's toys or diaries with significant dates in them.

Sixty five per cent have attempted to hide junk in a panic before having visitors, while more than four in 10 have had others comment on their hoarding habits.

There are empty plug-in air fresheners, a hi-fi system, games console controllers and unworn shoes bundled together amongst most people's clutter, the research showed. Battery chargers, old car stereos and a collection of unused tea-light candles were other common items littering the house.

It's apparently 'out of sight, out of mind' that applies to most adults who take to stuffing things into drawers, cupboards and spare rooms an average of 36 times a year.

England prices higher now than 2008 peak

England is the only UK country where property prices are now higher than the pre-financial crisis peak of January 2008.

The England index reached 198.8 in June 2014. This is 10 per cent higher than the peak in January 2008 of 180.8.

UK house prices increased by 10.2 per cent in the year to June 2014, down from 10.4 per cent in the year to May 2014.

According to the Office of National Statistics (ONS) house price annual inflation was 10.7 per cent in England, 3.5 per cent in Wales, 6 per cent in Scotland and 4.9 per cent in Northern Ireland.

House prices are increasing strongly across most parts of the UK, with prices in London again showing the highest growth.

Annual house price increases in England were driven by an annual increase in London of 19.3 per cent and to a lesser extent increases in the south east (9.7 per cent) and the East (7.9 per cent).

Excluding London and the south east, UK house prices increased by 6.3 per cent in the 12 months to June 2014.

More cars manufactured

Car manufacturing accelerated ahead last month, according to official figures.

A total of 132,570 cars were made in the UK in July 2014 – a 2.8 per cent rise on the figure for July 2013, the Society of Motor Manufacturers and Traders (SMMT) said.

Last month's total took the year-to-date figure to 923,884 – a 3.4 per cent increase on the total for the first seven months of last year.

Cars made for export rose 2.9 per cent last month which took the export market for the period since 2010 to the five million mark.

SMMT chief executive, Mike Hawes, said this was "a major milestone" adding that the automotive industry had "continued its renaissance" in July 2014.

THIS WEEK'S MODEL...

Audi's A3 Cabriolet

Audi's new 'third generation' A3 cabriolet has arrived. It is sleeker and more sophisticated than its predecessor and its fast-retracting, powered fabric hood can be concealed within the new body, writes Philip Shoulder.

It is available with a choice of SE, Sport or S line specification. Standard equipment includes automatic hood finished in black, plus 16-inch alloy wheels, air conditioning, MMI radio, Audi Music Interface iPod connection, Bluetooth, preparation for SD card-based navigation and a light and rain sensor package.

Shared Sport and S line features also include 18-inch alloys, sports seats, Audi drive select adaptive dynamics system with five operating modes to fine-tune driving characteristics, dual-zone climate control and a high-resolution colour driver's information system.

All versions get an active rollover protection system, consisting of two spring-loaded plates recessed into the body.

It is a competent if not exactly engaging drive. Being a soft-top there's a tiny amount of detectable 'body-flex' when driving on bumpy roads, but it's better than most and never interferes with the car's composure. Road holding and grip levels are good, but the steering could have more feel.

The engine range consists of two petrol options and one diesel. Tested here is the entry-level petrol – the 1.4 TFSI cylinder on demand (CoD) motor - which produces 138bhp and 184lb ft of torque, it zips from 0-62mph in 9.1 seconds, while being an exceptionally smooth powerplant, even when worked hard. Although no fire ball, it's certainly brisk enough to have fun. Yet, clever fuel-saving cylinder cut-off technology also offers impressive efficiency, returning a combined 56.5mpg and emitting 114g/km of CO2.

A fabric roof stretched over a kinematic mechanism made of magnesium-steel opens the new Cabriolet to the elements fully automatically in a little under 18 seconds at speeds of up to 31mph at the touch of a button.

McLaren GTR is real rocket

Even if you had a spare £2m burning a hole in your pocket, it's unlikely you would be able to get your hands on this – the McLaren P1 GTR, writes Matt Westcott.

The track only model is reported to have only been offered to those who currently own the P1 road car, all 375 of them, and even then it's likely only a handful will actually be handed the keys.

Able to take on the Bugatti Veyron at its own game, the GTR is designed, says Ron Dennis' outfit, to be the "best driver's car in the world on the track".

A bold statement, but there won't be many who would bet against it being the truth.

Powered by a twin-turbo 3.8 litre V8 allied to a lightweight electric motor, it puts out a mesmeric 986bhp.

The body has been "shrink-wrapped" around a carbon fibre monocage in order to maximise performance and aerodynamics.

In addition it possesses a Formula One style DRS system and an onboard air jacking system to make those tyre changes that much quicker.

A large carbon diffuser increases downforce and grip and together with bespoke Pirelli tyres, McLaren says the GTR will be able to break later into corners, take higher speeds into apexes and be able to make the most of its throttle power earlier when exiting corners.

McLaren Special Operations will maintain and run all the cars, and manage the programme throughout.

Robinson on the brink of glory

Surbiton's Mike Robinson can take a giant leap towards lifting the Clio Cup Race Series title with two wins at Snetterton this weekend.

The 31-year-old sales director tops the drivers' championship standings, having won five of the competition's eight races thus far.

Total Control Racing's Robinson, right, won both rounds at Brands Hatch last time out and is currently 36 points ahead of nearest rival David Dickenson with four rounds remaining.

World class: Holcombe's England international Nick Catlin will be at Sugden Road on Sunday

Thirteen days at Surbiton

Surbiton will hope 13 is not their unlucky number as they ramp up preparations for the Men's Hockey League Premier Division season, writes Sean Cotter.

The Sugden Road outfit will have played four home games in 13 days by the time they host Reading on the season's opening day on September 13.

Surbiton hosted London rivals and division new boys Southgate on Thursday night before welcoming hockey's big spenders, Holcombe on Sunday.

Holcombe are bidding to escape the Conference East and confirmed the signing of three more current Great Britain internationals – Nick Catlin, Iain Lewers and goalkeeper George Pinner – this week, adding to the two already in their squad.

They host cross-Thames rivals Teddington next Thursday before the visit of Hampstead & Westminster on September 9.

MYSTIC MAC: Ks striker McCollin predicts big things for Pinney

Pinney to rescue for Ks

SPORTS EDITOR
STUART AMOS
samos@london.newsquest.co.uk

Ks striker Andre McCollin has told strike partner Nathaniel Pinney he will not be getting any more charitable donations from him this season.

Pinney slammed home the 92nd minute penalty that secured a 2-1 win at Leatherhead on Wednesday night after McCollin passed up the opportunity to bag his second goal of the night.

It was the former Crystal Palace youngster's first league strike for the club since arriving at Kingsmeadow in the summer.

McCollin hoped getting that monkey off his back would see Pinney go from strength to strength for Kingstonian this season.

And it only took until a late equaliser in Saturday's 1-1 draw at Bognor Regis Town for the former Carshalton Athletic striker to prove McCollin right.

"Leatherhead was actually our best performance of the season so far," said McCollin last week.

"We moved the ball well, played the ball in the right areas and the longer we play together the better we'll get.

"I left the penalty to Nathaniel because I know what it is like for a striker if you haven't scored for a new club.

"I knew he was not going to miss, so I was not too worried. Hopefully, now he has got one he'll just carry on scoring for us.

"But I have already told him that is the last penalty he'll have off me though."

Pinney's goals proved crucial in the last two games in the same way midfielder Tommy Kavanagh's did in the two matches preceding them.

And McCollin thought that would only bode well for the coming season.

"Kavs is in a better place mentally having come back from Dulwich Hamlet," he added.

"It is important we score goals from everywhere on the pitch and, hopefully, he can keep contributing."

Ks, who saw Monday's visit from VCD Athletic postponed due to rain, travel to Tonbridge Angels on Saturday.

Super sub Salako's debut double delight

Substitute Michael Salako's debut brace left Corinthian Casuals boss Matt Howard purring as his side moved up to seventh in the Ryman Division One South table, writes Stuart Tree.

Salako, prolific in the reserves this term, came off the bench at half time with his side leading 1-0 through Michael Fahm.

He made a big impression as his double added to a Simon Huckle own goal as his side crushed Walton Casuals 4-1 at King George's Field on Monday.

The result followed Saturday's 1-1 draw at Hythe Town and a midweek 2-0 win over Walton & Hersham.

Lovely stuff: Corinthian Casuals substitute Michael Salako celebrates his second goal on Saturday Stuart Tree

FAVOUR: If East Molesey win promotion to the Surrey Championship Premier Division, league rivals Malden Wanderers will be on their Christmas card list. Wanderers secured their Division One status and kept the promotion race alive with a convincing win at second placed Beddington on Saturday. Alex Butler (44) and John Hess (42) top scored as skipper Giles Puckle's men scored 229 all out, before Michael Cottrell (3-29), Kevin Boudville (2-35) and the captain (2-35) dismissed their hosts for 200. The result, coupled with East Molesey's win over Camberley, means the Moles can still pip Beddington with two games remaining. Wanderers travel to Cheam on Saturday.

DOG FIGHT: Kingstonian slipped into Surrey Championship Division Four relegation trouble with a surprise home defeat to Cobham Avorians on Saturday. Muhammad Asif (76) had helped the hosts post a competitive 229 all out. But a 105-run partnership between Chandimanthu Rodrigo (82) and Tilan Wijesinghe (64*) meant it never looked like enough as the visitors won with 10 overs and seven wickets to spare. Ks are four points above the dropzone with title chasing Guildford City the visitors on Saturday.

SINGLE FRIENDLY: Surbiton Ladies play their only pre-season fixture against a club team on Sunday, when they face newly-promoted Buckingham at Indian Gymkhana ahead of the new Women's Hockey League Premier Division season. They open the campaign with the visit of Reading.

RACE ACE: New Malden racing driver Tom Onslow-Cole, 27, takes his Strata 21 Aston Martin GT3 to Brands Hatch in the British GT Championship this weekend hoping to cement his top 10 spot in the drivers' championship.

PARKRUN: Stragglers Running Club's Paul Bowden won the Kingston parkrun on Saturday in 18 minutes 27 seconds.

Moonlit in Marrakech

Syon Park • West London

Explore the myths and magic of our Moroccan paradise with its sensuous mix of spices, silks, silver and sands. Scented oil lamps and Arabian acrobats light the way as you are led across the wooden bridge amongst tranquil fountains and ornate bronze sculptures to the vibrant and energetic city of Marrakech. Tantalize your senses in this exotic bazaar with an intoxicating richness of colour and exquisite fabrics.

Enter our sumptuous palm lined dining area and enjoy the alfresco ambience beneath our twinkling starlit ceiling. Be entertained by our hypnotic harem of aerial performers tumbling from above and stand by for a spectacular finale from our full cast of acrobats, dancers and entertainers.

Later, relax in our intimately cushioned Kasbah, grab a refreshing Casablanca beer, ride the unique Camel Rodeo, jump on our exhilarating dodgems or simply dance the night away!

The Roaring Twenties

Mercedes-Benz World • Weybridge

It's Chicago 1928, prohibition is in full swing and bootlegging gangs rule the streets. Whisper the secret password and enter into the shadowy world of the Speakeasy.

Stroll past the lonely saxophonist, the shoeshine and our authentic 1920's Cadillac to the hot and lively jumpin' Jazz Bar featuring our foot-tappin' resident band.

Take to your seats in our richly furnished and stunningly glamorous dining room. Enjoy a superb four course dinner as the musicians perform and standby for exhilarating bursts of cabaret from our cast of West End singers, dancers, acrobats and world class aerialists.

After dinner, head to the illicit Gambling Den and try your luck at roulette and blackjack, jump on our famous dodgems or simply dance the night away!
